

Duke Center for Virology
8th ANNUAL

MINI-SYMPOSIUM ON PATHOGENIC HUMAN VIRUSES

Room 103 Bryan Research Building
Duke University Medical Center

Thursday, April 8, 2010

- 8:55 a.m. Opening remarks, Bryan R. Cullen, Ph.D. (Duke)
- 9:00 a.m. Robert H. Silverman, Ph.D. (Cleveland Clinic)
“Implications for the Human Retrovirus XMRV in Prostate Cancer”
- 9:45 a.m. Paul Bieniasz, Ph.D. (The Rockefeller University)
“Tethering Virions—Battles at the Cell Surface Between Enveloped Viruses and Their Hosts”
- 10:30 a.m. Break
- 11:00 a.m. Ann Palmenberg, Ph.D. (University of Wisconsin-Madison)
“What We Learned from Sequencing Every Human Rhinovirus”
- 11:45 a.m. Scott Wong, Ph.D. (Oregon Health & Science University)
“How Primate Rhadinoviruses Establish Chronic Infection and Induce Disease”

Sponsored by the Duke Center for Virology, Duke Comprehensive Cancer Center, Duke Center for AIDS Research and GlaxoSmithKline

Organized by Bryan R. Cullen 684-3369 bryan.cullen@duke.edu

Duke Comprehensive Cancer Center