Teaching Ideas Workshops

This annual workshop series addresses topics relevant to teaching, learning, instructional technology and issues in higher education and faculty life. gradschool.duke.edu/TeachingIdeas

Courses on College Teaching

One-credit courses address topics including fundamentals of college teaching, course design, visual communication, online teaching, student diversity, and topics and careers in higher education. These classes form part of the requirements for the Certificate in College Teaching. gradschool.duke.edu/Courses

Certificate in College Teaching

This program prepares Ph.D. students to teach and provides formal documentation upon completion of the program, which helps make students more competitive when applying for faculty positions. gradschool.duke.edu/CCT

Bass Instructional Fellowship Program

This program provides endowed fellowships for graduate students to gain high-quality teaching experience as instructors of record, instructional teaching assistants, or online apprentices. gradschool.duke.edu/Bass

Preparing Future Faculty

This program provides a yearlong experience for Ph.D. students to learn about the broad range of faculty roles and responsibilities by visiting regional partner institutions and working closely with a mentor at one of them. gradschool.duke.edu/PFF

Duke OPTIONS

Ph.D. students develop six key competencies throughout the three stages of their graduate programs using this online professional development planning tool. Duke OPTIONS provides advice on when to take advantage of career and professional development offerings and encourages students to map out their futures. options.duke.edu

Emerging Leaders Institute

In this six-week intensive program, participants develop competencies in communication, self-awareness, professional adaptability, interdisciplinary teamwork, and leadership, leading to a certificate of completion. Spring gradschool.duke.edu/ELI

Professional Development Series

This event series includes talks, workshops, panels, and events that can help students identify and develop transferable skills to prepare for careers in academia, industry, government, nonprofit, and entrepreneurship. gradschool.duke.edu/PDS Four focus areas:

- Core Competencies, featuring several events designed specifically for master's students
- Ph.D. Career Paths
- Academic Job Search Series (biannual)
- Careers Beyond Academia (biannual)

Professional Development Grant

Students' professional development needs vary across disciplines. The Graduate School offers the Professional Development Grant as a way to support discipline-specific programming at the program or department level that complements offerings on campus. gradschool.duke.edu/ProfDevGrant

Professional Development Blog

The blog offers students an opportunity to share their professional development experiences and build their online communication portfolios. It showcases professional development offerings and alumni success stories. gradschool.duke.edu/ProfDevBlog

Responsible Conduct of Research

Responsible Conduct of Research training is a formal requirement for every master's and Ph.D. student enrolled in The Graduate School. All master's students are required to complete four hours of RCR training during their orientation. All PhD students are required to complete 12 or 18 hours of RCR training in their first four years of study, depending on their discipline. gradschool.duke.edu/RCR

Writing Support

In partnership with Thompson Writing Program and English for International Students, The Graduate School provides resources including academic courses, individual writing consultations, and additional support for international students. gradschool.duke.edu/WritingSupport
