

Getting China Right: Perspectives on the Challenge of China in the World

Duke University
Korman Assembly Room
(Perkins Library 217)
December 6, 4:00 p.m.

Songying Fang, Rice
M. Taylor Fravel, MIT
Avery Goldstein, UPENN
Jessica Chen Weiss, Cornell
And 50+ experts on Chinese politics

Supported by
Henry Luce Foundation
Office of Provost
Dean's Office of Trinity College
Asia Pacific Studies Institute
Center for International & Global Studies
Global Asia Initiative
Department of Political Science

As China has grown in power and stature as the second largest economy in the world, a dominant trading partner, and a world power, its interests have also grown global. Many issues of Chinese domestic politics are now also truly issues of global politics. In today's politically charged atmosphere, the need for rigorous, objective, and engaged perspectives is more critical than ever. We asked four distinguished experts to offer perspective on what it means to “get China right.”