

“Haitian Creole:
What Role Should It Play in the Rebuilding of Haiti?”

A Lecture by F.I.U. Creole Linguist

JACQUES PIERRE

Wednesday March 24, 4 pm

Breedlove Room, Perkins Library, Duke West Campus

Followed by a model class in Creole for the Recovery from 6:00-7:15 pm in the LINK classroom 5, Perkins Library

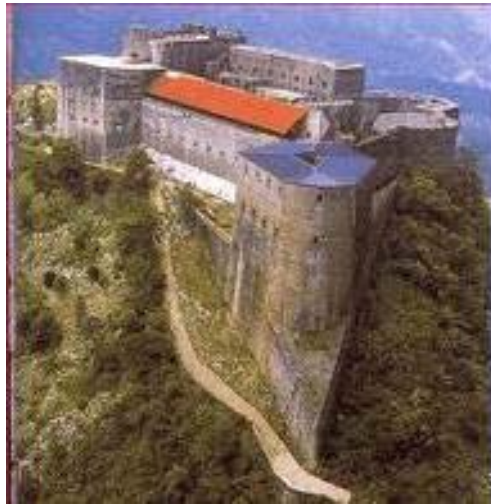

Sponsored by:

The Center for French and Francophone Studies (CFFS)

The Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies (CLACS)

The Franklin Humanities Institute (FHI)

Men Anpil, Chay Pa Lou (Many Hands Make Light Work)

Jacques Pierre, Lecturer in Creole at Florida International University, completed graduate work in Translation studies with a concentration in Creole and French and in E.S.L. at Kent State University, and an exchange program in Applied Linguistics at Indiana University working with senior Creolist Albert Valdman. He co-edited the Haitian Creole-English Bilingual Dictionary with Albert Valdman. With Ben Hebblethwaite, he has published translations into from French into Creole of texts by authors including Marie de France and Arthur Rimbaud. He is currently teaching a recovery-related course on Professional Creole at F.I.U.

For more information, please contact Stephanie Faris (sdk3@duke.edu).