*Took the physiology equivalent pre-req with the inter-campus program between Duke and UNC. It was a lecture/lab course that was both anatomy and physiology (no cadaver lab, just computer models). This counted as my physiology credit since I had already taken Anatomy (The Human Body). It was a super easy and a great course and the Robertson bus was easy to use.

Extracurriculars/Shadowing/Observation stuff at Duke:

- Women's Varsity Swimming & Diving: exposure to training room/athletic rehab
- HCIP: Health Careers Internship Program. One semester in each setting:
 - Shadowing PTs/nurses in Duke North on the inpatient Orthopedics floor
 - Shadowed/observed PTs at the outpatient PT/OT clinic in Duke South
 - Shadowed/observed in the PT clinic at Duke Sports Medicine Center
- Service-Learning Requirement for SOCIOL 169/PSY 130:
 - Volunteered at Nursing home center (on Erwin Road next to Lenox Baker) for a semester with the nursing and PT staff
