This publication is supported by the South African Research Chairs Initiative of the Department of Science and Technology and National Research Foundation. Professor Abdulkader holds the Chair in Islam, African Publics and Religious Values hosted by the University of Cape Town.
Contents

Editorial 5

Articles
Andalusī Vestiges in the Ethiopian Islamic Literary Tradition
ADDAY HERNÁNDEZ 10

Islam, possession et chefferie au Niger
MÍCHELA PASIAN 20

Uganda’s Militant Islamic Movement ADF: A Historical Analysis
ABDULHAKIM A. NSOBYA 30

Religion, Politics and Identity in South Sudan: An Interview with Father Christian Carlassare (Juba, South Sudan) 40

Focus: Somalia
The Global War on Terror in Somalia: the Politics of Destabilization
DEBORA VALENTINO MALITO 49

Aid in Faith: When religious identity does not help to access the needy: A case from Somalia
VALERIA SAGGIOMO 56

“With God on our side”: a focus on Ahlu Sunna Waljama’a, a Sufi Somali paramilitary group
GIULIO DI DOMENICANTONIO 64

Islamic reformism and al-Azhar Mission in Somalia during the nineteen-fifties
ANTONIO MORONE 70

Somali Legal Literature: a Bibliographic Essay
SALVATORE MANSO 77

Focus: Boko Haram
“Response to Boko Haram”: A Friday Sermon Delivered by his Royal Highness, the Emir of Kano Muhammad Sanusi II, at the Kano Central Mosque
Translated by SHUAIB MUKHTAR SHUAIB and ANDREA BRIGAGLIA 92

Boko Haram: Trans-National Flows and the Quest for an Economic Space
ALESSIO IOCCI 97
Machiavel en Afrique centrale: le président Déby face à Boko Haram
GEORGES BERGHEZAN

Goni Abba Bamé de la région de Kolofata au Nord-Cameroun: Profil d’un savant musulman à l’époque de Boko Haram
YÉRIMA BUKAR

Focus: ISIS and the South African Muslims:
Documents on an Ongoing Engagement

Open Letter to South Africans on Channel Islam International from Mufti Rashid Moosagie detailing his choice to join ISIS
121

Sunni Ulama Council of Cape Town Condemns Religious Violence: 4 September 2014
SHAYKH FAHKHURDDIN OWAISSI AL-MADANI

Probing the Sunni Ulama’s Condemnations: An Interview with Shaykh Fakhruddin Owaisi al-Madani (Cape Town, South Africa)
140

My madrassa classmate hated politics. Then he joined the Islamic State
EBRAHIM MOOSA

Mitigating the Toxic Political Theology of ISIS: Friday Sermon Condemning ISIS
IMAM DR. A. RASHEED OMAR

Focus: Biographies

The Life and Career of Malam Muhammadu Salga (1869-1938): a Pioneer of the Most Extensive Tijani Network in Northern Nigeria
SANI YAKUBU ADAM

Tribute to Hajiya Sa’adatu Ahmad Barmani Choge, Griotte, northern Nigeria, 1948-2013
ABDALLA UBA ADAMU

Reports

Mauritania’s Manuscripts – a critical evaluation of former conservation projects and developing future strategies: A Workshop Report 9-10 September 2015, ZMO Berlin
BRITTA FREDE
List of Contributors

A. Rashied Omar is a research scholar at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies (University of Notre Dame). He received an MA in Peace Studies from the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, and a PhD in Religious Studies from the University of Cape Town. He has also completed study programs in Islamic Studies in South Africa, Sudan, Pakistan, and Malaysia. He serves as the coordinating Imam at the Claremont Main Road Mosque in Cape Town, and as international advisor to the Dutch-based Knowledge Forum on Religion and Development. He is also a trustee of the Healing of Memories Institute in South Africa.

Abdalla Uba Adamu teaches in the Faculty of Communication at Bayero University in Kano. He was a visiting Professor at University of Warsaw, Rutgers Stage University, and University of Florida. He is currently the Vice-Chancellor of the National Open University of Nigeria (NOUN) in Abuja.

Abdulhakim A. Nsobya is currently an MA Student in the department of Religious Studies at the University of Cape Town. His research focus is on religious movements in Africa, with emphasis on East Africa and in particular, on Uganda.

Adday Hernández is a postdoctoral researcher in the department of Cross-Cultural and Regional Studies of the University of Copenhagen. She has a joint PhD in Arabic and Andalusī studies from the Complutense University of Madrid (UCM) and the Spanish Higher Council for Scientific Research (CSIC); she specializes in Islamic law and is trained in codicology.

Alessio Iocchi is a PhD candidate at the Department of Asian, African and Mediterranean Studies at the University of Naples “L’Orientale.” The focus of his research is the relationship between territory, terrorism and militarization in transboundary areas, notably in the Lake Chad Basin region.

Antonio M. Morone holds a PhD in history (2007). He is Assistant Professor in the Department of Political and Social Sciences at Pavia University. His main research interest is the colonial and postcolonial history of Libya and Somalia.

Britta Frede specializes in Islamic studies focusing on the western Saharan region, especially Mauritania. She is interested in processes of religious and social transformation, having worked on the history of Sufism in West Africa and on contemporary Muslim education. She has worked as a Research Fellow at the Zentrum Moderner Orient (ZMO), Bayreuth University and most recently at the Free University of Berlin.

Debora Valentina Malito is a Mellon Post-doctoral Research Fellow in humanities at the University of Cape Town. Since 2013, she has been a Research Associate with the Global Governance Programme at the European University Institute. She holds a PhD in Political Studies (2013) from the University of Milan. Her research interests focus on critical studies of liberal interventionism, state-building and governance. She is currently working on the impact and legitimacy of the UN-NATO intervention in Libya.
Ebrahim Moosa received his PhD from the University of Cape Town in 1995. He is currently a Professor of Islamic Studies at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, and in Notre Dame’s department of History. Moosa’s interests span both classical and modern Islamic thought with a special focus on Islamic law, history, ethics and theology. He is the author of Ghazali and the Poetics of Imagination, winner of the American Academy of Religion’s Best First Book in the History of Religions (2006) and editor of the last manuscript of the late Professor Fazlur Rahman, Revival and Reform in Islam: A Study of Islamic Fundamentalism.

Fakhruddin Owaisi al-Madani is a lecturer of Hadith at the International Peace College of South Africa and three-time Chairman of the Sunni Ulama Council of Cape Town. He is a well-known Islamic preacher in South Africa, known to promote a moderate and balanced understanding of Islam.

Georges Berghezan. After working for a dozen years as a photojournalist and focusing on wars in former Yugoslavia, he joined the Brussels-based Group for Research and Information on Peace and Security (GRIP) in 2000. He has since been working on issues related to armament, armed groups and conflicts in several areas of the world, not only in the Balkans, but primarily in Central Africa and the Sahel region.

Giulio Di Domenicantonio graduated from Paris-Sorbonne University and is a PhD student at the University of Salento (Lecce). His research focuses on intelligence exploitation of the Italian Security Corps in Somalia during the Trust Territory of Somaliland period (1950-1960). In 2015, he was a visiting researcher at the Les Afriques dans le Monde (LAM) at Sciences Po Bordeaux.

Michela Pasian began her studies in the History of Religions at the University of Trieste, and continued her career in France. She has a PhD in anthropology from the École des Hautes Étudesen Sciences Sociales (EHES).

Salvatore Mancuso received his PhD in Comparative Law from the University of Trieste, specializing in African law. He has worked in private legal law practice, corporate practice, and now academia and research. He has published extensively on comparative and African law, and has been a visiting lecturer at a number of institutions worldwide. He is currently a lecturer in the department of Commercial Law at the University of Cape Town.

Sani Yakubu Adam is a lecturer in the Department of History at Bayero University in Kano. His main area of interest is the history of Islamic movements in northern Nigeria. He is currently conducting research on the history of the Islamic book market in Kano.

Valeria Saggiomo (PhD) is a lecturer in International Cooperation and Development at the University of Naples “L’Orientale,” and in Sustainable Development at the University of Perugia. Her research focuses on the role of civil society organizations in humanitarian and development contexts with a special focus on Somalia, where she has lived and worked since 2003.

Yérima Bukaris a PhD student at the University of Ngaoundéré (Cameroon). His research focuses on the movement of intellectuals and the practices of traditional Islamic teaching and learning in the southern borders of Lake Chad.